

Children's Television Standards (Variation) 1999 (No. 2)

The Australian Broadcasting Authority determines this standard under paragraph 122 (1) (a) of the Broadcasting Services Act 1992.

Dated 1999.

Chairperson

Deputy Chairperson

Member

Member

Member

Member

DRAFT

Children's Television Standards (Variation) 1999 (No. 2)¹

made under the

Broadcasting Services Act 1992

Contents

	Page
1 Name of standard	2
2 Commencement	2
3 Cessation	2
4 Variation of Children's Television Standards	2
5 Interpretation	2
Schedule 1 Variation of Children's Television Standards	3

1 Name of standard

This standard is the Children's Television Standards (Variation) 1999 (No. 2).

2 Commencement

This standard commences on 15 September 2000.

3 Cessation

This standard ceases on 1 October 2000.

4 Variation of Children's Television Standards

Schedule 1 varies the Children's Television Standards for the period this standard is in force.

5 Interpretation

In this standard:

Children's Television Standards* means the standards relating to programs for children determined by the Australian Broadcasting Tribunal under paragraph 16 (1) (d) of the Broadcasting Act 1942 and taken, under subsection 21 (2) of the Broadcasting Services (Transitional Provisions and Consequential Amendments) Act 1992, to be a standard determined by the ABA under paragraph 122 (1) (a) of the Broadcasting Services Act 1992, as varied and in force immediately before the commencement of this standard.

Schedule 1 Variation of Children's Television Standards

(section 3)

[1] After CTS 3, subparagraph (1) (l)

insert

- (m) to allow coverage of the Sydney 2000 Olympic Games a licensee holding the exclusive rights to live coverage of that event may displace any weekday C period to another time in the C band during the winter school holidays in the 2000 school year, and any weekday P period to another time in the P band within the week either side of the Sydney 2000 Olympic Games.

Note

1. Made by the Australian Broadcasting Authority on X November 1999, and notified in the Commonwealth of Australia Gazette on X November 1999.

DRAFT